

Dr. Christian Thaler is a renowned Fertility specialist. He completed his medical studies in Germany (Ludwig-Maximilians University of Munich), the United Kingdom (University of Aberdeen), and Austria (University of Vienna). During his studies, Dr. Thaler completed an internship in Gynecologic Oncology at Parkland Memorial Hospital and the University of Texas in the USA. After his residency program in Gynecology and Obstetrics and a fellowship in Reproductive Immunology, Dr. Thaler took the position of a Specialist in Reproductive Medicine at the Department of Gynecology and Obstetrics, Ludwig Maximilian University of Munich. After being Head of the Hormone and Fertility Center and a University Professor (C3) for Gynecology and Obstetrics at this medical institution, since March 2024 he is retired, and a part-time Consultant for some of our patients. According to Focus magazine, Dr. Thaler ranks among the best German doctors in the field of his competence. Dr. Thaler has worked in the field of pregnancy impairment and infertility treatment with IVF, blastocyst transfer, intracytoplasmic sperm injections, and nutrition correction for more than 35 years. His scientific and clinical interests include hormonal and immunological processes during pregnancy, mechanisms of embryonal implantation in the womb, and the effects of trace elements and vitamins on ovarian function. Clinically, he is particularly active in Endocrinology, Fertility Medicine, Holistic Medicine and Psychotherapy, Obstetrics and Gynecology as well as Healthy Aging. Dr. Thaler holding memberships in many national and international scientific societies. He is the First Vice President of the German Society for Gynecology and Obstetrics and Member of the Advisory Board of the German Menopause Society.